SCHEME ROMOTR ARRSTED

V. Waller Charged With Having led The Mails To Fraud

ER GETS ME TO TRICK

Frank V. Waller, who was employed as farm hand by Miller who has just died in village, is now the toils of the having been arrested on a federal warrant last Thursday afternoon on charge of using mails to defraud.

Waller, who is well known to many of our readers, had evidently been tired along a livelihood by a "sweat throw" and decided to make a foray by the clever handling of a "rob quick scheme," accordingly took the position of a laborer on the farm as a blind and while he was to be fulfilling his duties also the satisfaction of his employer and best efforts were turned in the direction.

His first was to have letter heads and stamps printed (in Chicago) on the very below his name appeared "Consulting Engineer" address was given as "Rooms 1 and 10 Paul Building, Chicago" and the Anti-Trust State.

With this, Waller, long now in the village, had a good deal of good old-fashioned in the reference to places which he did not, it was an easy matter for him to order and procure a planing machine, typewriter, etc., and install them in a firm which he took the trouble to look up his references. As soon as these articles reached the Antioch station it was a simple matter for him to re-bill them a "fence" in Chicago. Thus he sent the article for nothing and although he perhaps sold it for a percentage of its real value yet from each transaction he cleared a neat sum, with no labor involved.

The remainder of the envelope set Postmaster B. Huber to thinking, he was of opinion that he knew Antioch as well as anyone, but he couldn't see the Paul Building, let alone Rooms 1, 8, 9 and 10, so he started a little investigation on his own account. It was not very long before he had in his possession all the information that was necessary to cause Waller's arrest. This information he imparted to the federal authorities and he was at once furnished with a warrant for the arrest of Waller should he again appear. But before the arrival of the warrant, Waller had decided to depart for other fields leaving no address behind. Although he learned of the federal departure Mr. Huber kept a close watch of the mails, believing that sooner or later some clue would be discovered. His prediction proved to be right for last week Waller wrote back to the Miller home asking that his clothes be sent to Milwaukee in care of T. A. Barnes evidently laboring under the impression that he would not be associated with that name. However, Huber decided to follow up the lead with the idea that if Barnes was not Waller himself he would be at least in a position to tell the whereabouts of the latter.

As soon as this information was given to the federal agents they visited Milwaukee arriving last Thursday morning they discovered the man they were looking for employed as a bell boy at the hotel.

Harry Palmer Wounded in Action Oct. 10

After waiting patiently for over five months for some word to come from their son Harry, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Palmer on Friday evening of last week received the following official telegram, dated December 4.

"Deeply regret to inform you that it is officially reported that Private Harry Palmer, Infantry, was wounded in action, degree undetermined, October 10. Further information when received." (Signed) Harry's Adjutant General.

The parents are naturally very much worried and have made an appeal to the Red Cross to secure for them more definite information. They have also written to their other two sons in France asking them to look up their brother and report his condition.

Although the telegram gives them the knowledge that he is still alive on the tenth day of October and inspires the hope that he may yet return to them, yet it in no way explains the reason for his silence before and since that date but it is now the supposition that his first letters may have gone astray in some manner and it is feared that his condition since he have prevented him from writing. But now that Mrs. Palmer knows that he was alive up to two months ago he has the strong hope that this promise may not be of a serious nature and is looking forward to the arrival of word from him hoping that it may bring the desired information.

Edwards Refuses to Grant Village a New Trial

Wednesday afternoon in Circuit court Judge Edwards refused to grant a new trial in the case of Brownell vs the Village of Antioch.

This is the case in which Russell Brownell, school boy, sustained an injury to his leg by getting it caught in the cogwheel engine which the village had used to remain in the street. Brownell was taken to the grade school building where he remained for some time before being taken to the hospital. Brownell's father, Mr. Brownell, entered suit against the village and was awarded damages to the amount of $1,700. A motion was made for a new trial on the grounds that the verdict was excessive, but the judge has seen fit to deny the motion.

The judge is determined to carry out the verdict and notices of an appeal have been served. The case is represented by Cook, Orvis and McGuffin of the prosecution.

Sunday School Notes

Sunday School will give the Christmas cantata "The Santa Claus" on Christmas eve. Next Sunday offering will be for the benefit of the Bluff Deaconess orphanage.

The attendance last Sunday was the largest for the Sunday School since September. The attendance for December shows a twenty-five percent increase over the same period in 1917. The year offerings are more than doubled and the Missionary offering has increased three times the amount given last year for the same period.

Star Elects Officers

At the last regular meeting of Antioch Chapter No. 423 O. E. S., the following officers were elected for the coming year:

Worthy Matron—Lottie Johnson.
Worthy Patron—Arthur Rosenfeldt.
Associate Matron—Laura Bacon.
Secretary—Charley Hillebrand.
Treasurer—Erma Powles.
Conductress—Nina Brook.
Associate Conductress—Louise Smart.

Tangan-Tangan Weed.

The tangen-tangen weed or vine of the Philippines is the source of a valuable lubricating oil. Those interested in the wild growth claim that 1,000 gallons of the oil can be produced from one acre, while cultivation will increase the output. Besides its value as a lubricator for delicate machinery, tangen-tangan oil is prized by the natives for its medicinal properties.

His Last Hope Gone.

In an Oklahoma court an attorney had been many times overruled by the court during the morning session. The attorney arrived in the court room at 1:35 p. m., whereas the court had adjourned at 1:30. The court and the attorney disagreed as to what was, in fact, the correct time, and the discussion ended with the despairing statement by the attorney: "Very well, your honor. Let's have it that way. I had hoped, however, that the time of day was one subject on which we might agree."—Law Notes.

MORE LETTERS FROM BOYS IN FRANCE

George Garland Writes From the Toul Sector, and Tim Buckley From Paris

ANXIOUS TO RETURN HOME

The following letter was received by Mrs. Frank Garland from her son.

November 23, 1918

Dear Mother—

I wrote a letter to you a couple of days ago, but as tomorrow is November 24, and the day set for all American soldiers to write a letter home, I am only too glad to do so and I hope that you receive it just before Christmas as it will be the only remembrance that I will be able to send to you this Christmas, so I wish you a Merry Christmas and a very happy New Year and it will only be a very few months before I will be spending the time with you.

We are still in our little huts that we made, but expect to move any day and, as you have probably read in the papers that our Division is one of those picked to go to Germany as occupation troops, which means that it is one of the best over here and the talk is that it will be one of the first home, which sounds good to me.

We have fair weather here since the shooting stopped but it is cold. We have plenty of warm clothes.

I was one of the lucky ones in my company to draw a ten-day pass to one of the Government's pleasure resorts, had my roll all packed and about two hours before it was time to start the passes were cancelled.

The French people surely are very joyful about the end of the war. Paris is lighted up her streets and windows the night of the signing of the armistice for the first time in four years. So, you see it must have been a great relief.

I have been in the Toul sector not far from Metz and have been not far from Paris but have never had a chance to see it, nor to see anything but ruins except when we were on our way up here. But I might see more on my way home. The boys are all anxious to get home now that the fighting is over.

I see by the paper that the boys in the states are going to be mustered out quite fast. They are lucky, in a way but, on the other hand, they can never say they were in the fighting. But, God knows, most of the soldiers that were in it, have surely gone through it, if there is any.

I am thankful I am as well as I ever was and more so, if anything. And, mother, I am beginning to think I will be able to eat Easter dinner with you instead of the Fourth of July. It took the Americans to do the job and in double quick time.

By the way, I have seen lots of prisoners of all nationalities marching down the roads. They have been released by the Germans most of them are French and Italians. They were made to work in the mines in Alsace-Lorraine for the Germans. They were very poorly dressed and looked as though the food was poor and not much of it, but our boys gave them clothes and fed them.

It gives me boys lots of pep to think that it won't be long before we take a boat ride again and there won't be no subs to look out for.

It is almost supper time, so will close for this time with lots of love.

From your son in France,

Wagoner Geo. F. Garland.

Miss Dorothy Banks received the following letter from her uncle, T. J. Buckley, who is now in France.

St. Cyr Barracks, Paris, France.

November 22, 1918

Dorothy J. Banks,

Antioch, Illinois,

My Dear Niece Dorothy—

I will try to write you a line to let you know I got here o. k. had one h-l of a time getting from Paris, took about four hours and only about twenty miles, the truck wouldn't run, guess the fellow didn't know how to drive it. It was 1:30 a. m., when we got supper. We had a very nice trip across. We have not been put to work yet, have to wait till the French police find out about our records.

You can see the name of the place on the top of the page but I'll make a

Organize For Lake County Forest Preserves

"Instead of telling the city motorist to go to h—l, tell him to go to the forest preserve."

This was the suggestion of John E. Barrett, prominent farmer of Lake county and leader in the Farmer's Institute.

Five city people realize what the farmer has to contend with from the trespassing of city people," declared Mr. Barrett.

"The motorist will disembark with his entire family, eat his lunch on your grounds, spread the wires, never shut the gates, pluck the fruit and in every other way make himself a nuisance."

That brought on a discussion in which Henry S. Bunting said that the human animal always has and always will believe that he has unalienable right to God's big out of doors, the minute he gets outside the city.

About this time in walked A. G. Maether, chairman of the board of supervisors of Lake county and agreed with everything Mr. Barrett had said.

The final verdict of everybody was that the city man could only be taught to mend his ways by giving him a forest preserve to roam in.

It all happened on last Wednesday, December 11, in the Chamber of Commerce at Waukegan at the meeting of the Lake County Forest Preserves.

A petition was framed and is now being circulated to secure the necessary five hundred names to present to the Circuit Court requesting that an election on the organization of a forest preserve district for Lake county be called at the general April election. E. L. Clark is in charge of the petition.

Everett L. Millard of Highland Park was elected chairman of the forest preserve committee to succeed Scott Keith who resigned on account of illness. Judge Perry L. Persons was elected honorary chairman, Charles M. King, vice chairman, Miss Elizabeth Baddaker of the Waukegan Chamber of Commerce, secretary; and Edward L. Ryerson, chairman finance committee.

The following committee was appointed on promotion and publicity: Mrs. E. L. Clarke, county superintendent of schools T. A. Simpson, and John E. Barrett.

Each Season Has Its Charms.

Each season has its own outdoor charm, even winter, when heavy snows cover the earth. Read Thoreau and John Burroughs and learn how the tracks of small animals on the snow's surface show the life of the woods and how the grace and shadow of twigs, the beauty and variety of the seed pods of weeds and the activity of birds cause the stroller to forget the cold, while the tinkling of small streams through a double margin of icicles is music to his ears.

Seek Healthy View Point.

If you desire to possess a broad, healthy point of view, observe the horde of restless, unhappy men and women who have failed to find happiness through a worship of false gods, and who find it only after having found a purpose that would effectively serve humanity. They will teach you a lesson on the futility of striving after the things that serve no useful end. Get a healthy viewpoint upon life!

bet that you can't say it right.

The aeroplanes are so thick here and make so much noise that I can hardly write. We are just a short distance from an aviation camp where they train flyers. They say it rains here one third of the time. We expect to be in Paris for a few days next week and will then be assigned to some sort of work. I have not been able to get any track of Willie C. or Bernie B. yet am going to try when I get to Paris. We are living in a tent here, there are four in ours, we have a stove and it takes four of us to keep it going and it is a very small one at that. Food is scarce and tobacco still scarcer. Don't suppose you will get this for two or three weeks maybe not before Christmas.

We cook our meals in a camp kitchen on wheels and wash our dishes in a big tank both out doors which will be a nice job when it snows or rains. There are about eighteen of us in this camp. I am on Kitchen Detail today, the others are out to drill.

If you should write send your letter care of American Red Cross Automotive and Mechanical Bureau.

Tomorrow will be Sunday, I must find a church and go to mass, went twice on the ship. Did you get the letter I mailed from the boat in New York also sent you a card from Bordeaux. Will close with love to all. From your Uncle Tim.

Private Timothy J. Buckley, St. Cyr, Paris, France, care of the American Red Cross, Automotive and Mechanical Bureau or Personal.

Work With a Will.

Whatever your work, do not wait to "feel just like it," before you begin to do your best. If you wait for inspiration you are doomed. Disregard your moods. Pay no attention to your feelings. If it is time to work, set about it, not half-heartedly, but with the whole-souled energy which is an admirable substitute for enthusiasm. To wait till you feel like it before you do your best, is to waste life and power.

CHRISTMAS in POETRY

His festivals a country seem to relish heart of a people. Christmas among Italian peasants has quite a different flavor from the Christmas of land of the former kaleidoscope of the different nationalities inspire them, in two countries closely akin England and in the future of Christendom. In England may trace the Christmas carol from the quaintest of folk songs—

As Joseph was tending,
He heard an angel,
This night the birth night Of Christ, our only king.

Through a procession of Christmas legends successive centuries to our own, when

"Hark, the angels sing" seems to embody Christmas joy in English-speaking lands the world over.

Christmas America has to adjust itself to a new environment from the old world. The heroic struggles of our ancestors tuned the lyre of one ballad writers to tell of "The Christmas in New England." The fire of the forbidding New England presents a pitiable contrast to the warmth and cheer which men of Christmas suggest.

"They thought had come to their portage, But not their journey done,
And then away from Provincetown Bay.

In the light of the sun,
With a fleet were the tall masts
And behind them the sea.

And behind them the sea,
But by the crystal sails to And to a harbor fair.

Now chant, no choirs to sing,
No harp, no lute or king,
The old winter day.

When the day of life was born?"

"I hear the bells on Christmas day Their mellow carols play,
And I repeat
Of peace on earth, good will to men."

No harp, no lute or king,
The old winter day.

Of the bells of the old bells to ring
Now chant, no choirs to sing,
No harp, no lute or king,
The old winter day.

Of the bells of the old bells to ring
Now chant, no choirs to sing,
No harp, no lute or king,
The old winter day.

Of the bells of the old bells to ring
Now chant, no choirs to sing,
No harp, no lute or king,
The old winter day.

seemed to drown the music of the bells.

"It was as if an earthquake rent The heartstones of a continent.

And in despair I bowed my head There is no peace on earth, I said, For hate is strong,
And mocks the song
Of peace on earth, good will to men."

Then pealed the bells more loud and deep:
"God is not dead, nor doth he sleep!
The wrong shall fall,
The right prevail
With peace on earth, good will to men!"

Snow and Christmas winds seem to be so closely mingled with Christmas in the minds of English-speaking people that many of us are scarcely aware that new traditions of Christmas climate are being built up in parts of our wide country. The poet Sil, with his exquisite art, paints for us a picture of "Christmas in California":

"Can this be Christmas—sweet as May,
With drowsy sun and dreamy air,
The wrong shall fall,
The right prevail

Has time grown sleepy at his post, And let the exiled summer back, Or is it her regretful ghost Or witchcraft of the almanac?

I am his creature, and his air I breathe, where'er my feet may stand;
The angels' song rings everywhere,
And all the earth is Holy Land."

Besides the religious spirit of Christmas, poetry, a great deal of verse has been written in honor of St. Nicholas, Kris Kringle or Santa Claus, as he is called, and the children. Perhaps one of the best known of these poems is "The Night Before Christmas" by Dr. Clement C. Moore, which begins:

"Twas the night before Christmas, when All through the house,
Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse;

The stockings were hung by the chimney With care,
In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there;

The children were nestled all snug in Their beds,
While visions of sugar-plums danced in their heads;

And merrily they were Falling asleep,
While visions of sugar-plums danced in their heads;

And merrily they were
Falling asleep,
While visions of sugar-plums danced in their heads;

He in yo' little bed Jes laik de birdies in de nest De mammy bird hab fed, Till jingle, jingle in de morn, When all de bells will say:
"De Holy Child ob Glad am bawn, An' dis am Christmas day."

James Whitcomb Riley, in his Rhymes of Childhood, says:

"After a thoughtful, almost painful pause, Bub sighed, 'I'm sorry for old Santa Claus.
They wuz wnt a Santa Claus, ner couldn't be,
When he wuz int a little boy like me."

His "Who Santa Claus Wuz" is well known:

"Jes a little bit o' feller; I remember still—Ust to almost cry for Christmas, like a youngster will.

Fourth o' July's nothing to it! New Year's ain't a smelt!
Easter Sunday—circus day—jes' all dead in the shell!

Laway, though! at night, you know, to set around and hear The old folk work the story off about the sleds and deer.

An' "Santy" skeel'n' round the roof, all wrapped in fur and fuz.
Long afore I knowed who "Santy Claus" wuz."

In his more serious strain he says:

"They're a kind o' feel in the air to me, When the Christmas times sets in, That's about as much of a mystery As ever I've run agin'!

For instance, now, whilse I gain in weight And general health I swear They're a congeness, somers, I can't quite state—A kind o' feel in the air,

Women all over the world realize more and more that their work at home helped the men at the front. It involved great sacrifices, hard work and unusual physical strength. Women at home should study nursing for the home. A good way to learn is to ask your druggist for a copy or send 50c to publishers of the "Medical Adviser," 603 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y., and get a copy of their 1,000 page book bound in cloth, with chapters on First Aid, Taking Care of the Sick or Wounded, Physiology, Hygiene, Anatomy, Sex Problems, Mother and Babe. Nobody, man or woman, can do good work when health is impaired. If a woman is nervous or has dizzy spells, suffers from awful pains at regular or irregular intervals she should turn to a tonic made up of herbs, and without alcohol, which makes weak women strong and sick women well. It is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Send Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 10 cents for trial package.

Quincy, Ill.—"When I felt that I needed a tonic, I used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I was simply tired out and didn't feel good. I just felt that I must have a tonic which was good for women. I took two bottles of 'Favorite' Prescription and it made me feel much better. I shall always praise it because it helped me."

The Farmer Receives More Than Five Thousand Dollars a Minute From Swift & Company

This amount is paid to the farmer for live stock, by Swift & Company alone, during the trading hours of every business day.

All this money is paid to the farmer through the open market in competition with large and small packers, shippers, speculators and dealers.

The farmer, feeder, or shipper receives every cent of this money ($300,000 an hour, nearly $2,000,000 a day, $11,500,000 a week) in cash, on the spot, as soon as the stock he has just sold is weighed up.

Some of the money paid to the farmer during a single day comes back to the company in a month from sale of products; much does not come back for sixty or ninety days or more. But the next day Swift & Company, to meet the demands made by its customers, must pay out another $2,000,000 or so, and at the present high price levels keeps over $250,000,000 continuously tied up in goods on the way to market and in bills owed to the company.

This gives an idea of the volume of the Swift & Company business and the requirements of financing it. Only by doing a large business can this company turn live stock into meat and by-products at the lowest possible cost, prevent waste, operate refrigerator cars, distribute to retailers in all parts of the country—and be recompensed with a profit of only a fraction of a cent a pound—a profit too small to have any noticeable effect on the price of meat or live stock.

Washington, D. C.—(Special).—According to a report made to the United States Public Health Service, the epidemic of influenza in Spain has already caused an increase in the prevalence and deaths from pulmonary tuberculosis. A similar association between influenza and tuberculosis was recently made by Sir Arthur New-holme, the chief medical officer of the English public health service, in his analysis of the tuberculosis death rate in England.

In order that the people of the United States may profit by the experience of other countries Surgeon General Rupert Blue of the United States Public Health Service has just issued a warning emphasizing the need of special precautions at the present time.
"Experience seems to indicate," says the Surgeon General, "that persons whose resistance has been weakened by an attack of influenza are particularly susceptible to tuberculosis. With millions of its people recently affected with influenza this country now offers conditions favoring the spread of tuberculosis."

One Million Consumptives in the United States.

"Then you consider this a serious menace?" was asked. "In my opinion it is, though I hasten to add it is distinctly one against which the people can guard. So far as one can estimate there are at present about one million cases of tuberculosis in the United States. There is unfortunately no complete census available to show exactly how many persons are afflicted with this disease, but the fact that the states have made the disablement in New York city, which has been in force for over 85,000 cases of tuberculosis registered with the Department of Health. Those familiar with the disease believe that the admitted and unreported cases would make the number nearer 50,000. The very careful health survey conducted during the past two years in Framingham, Mass., revealed 200 cases of tuberculosis in a population of approximately 15,000. If these proportions hold true for the United States as a whole they would indicate that about one in every hundred persons is tuberculous. Each of these constitutes a source of danger to be guarded against."

What to Do.

In his statement to the public Surgeon General Blue points out how those who have had influenza should protect themselves against tuberculosis. "All who have recovered from influenza," says the Surgeon General,
"should have their lungs carefully examined by a competent physician. In fact, it is desirable to have several examinations made a month apart. Such examinations cannot be made through the clothing nor can they be carried out in two or three minutes. If the lungs are found to be free from tuberculosis every effort should be made to keep them so. This can be done by right living, good food and plenty of fresh air."

Danger Signs.

The Surgeon General warned especially against certain danger signs, such as "decline" and "colds which hang on."
These, he explained, were often the beginning of tuberculosis. "If you do not get well promptly, if your cold seems to hang on or your health and strength decline, remember that these are often the early signs of tuberculosis. Place yourself at once under the care of a competent physician. Tuberculosis is curable in the early stages.

The president replied as follows:

"Your greetings have raised many emotions within me. It is with no ordinary sympathy in the people of the United States, from whom I have the priv-sufferings of the people of France.

Many of our own people have been they were maintaining and attempt-

President Wilson will spend the Christmas holidays at General Pershing's headquarters. Official announcement of this effect was made here.

The United States have given the best the president conferred with Presmier Venizelos of Greece and also had a lengthy talk with General Pershing. The Greek prime minister explained at length the position of his country and the Balkan situation in general. Mr. Wilson listened intently but was noncommittal.

General Pershing told the president details of the military situation, including the developments of operations. The president decided not to enter Germany, although he is extremely anxious to visit the army of occupation.

Colonel House was notified that Foreign Minister Balfour and Premier Lloyd George will reach Paris Saturday. The two British peace delegates will confer with President Wilson immediately upon their arrival.

The actual business conferences of the "big four"—Wilson, Clemenceau, Lloyd George and Orlando—will probably commence January 5, but it is uncertain as yet whether all the allies will be represented at the opening. "It is certain, however, that the delegates of the central powers will not be called in until a complete program has been agreed upon."

French People Greet Wilson.

Paris, Dec. 14.—President Wilson made his entrance into Paris at 10:15 this morning.

The president's arrival at the capital was greeted with a salvo of artillery in salute. The dense throngs gathered to greet the American executive hailed his coming with volleys of cheers.

Large crowds were massed around the Bois de Boulogne station awaiting the president's coming. As he alighted from his train a roar of welcome went up that left no doubt of the cordiality of the welcome given by Paris to its latest guest.

Great Men at Station.

President Poincare, Premier Clemenceau and others among the most prominent figures in France met the presidential party at the railway station.

The Republican Guard band, called out in President Wilson's honor, greeted him with "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Observers were impressed in the magnitude and beauty of the reception by some quality of warmth that made it different from the visits to Paris recently made by the sovereigns of the allied nations.

After the presentations and other formalities of welcome had been concluded, the president, Mrs. Wilson and other members of the party entered an open carriage and drove under der escort of the mounted Republican Guard, between solid ranks of French troops.

The route was lined for miles with captured flags and other battle trophies. Every available space was jammed by vast crowds, waving and shouting their welcome—such crowds as have rarely been seen in Paris.

They included not only more than half the population of Paris, but of the surrounding districts.

Thirty thousand soldiers, the flower of the French army, lined the avenues from Dauphine Gate to the Mauritius, which will be the home of the president and his wife.

President Wilson's Address.

"I am deeply indebted to you for your gracious greeting. It is very delightful to find myself in France and to feel a quick contact of sympathy and unbroken friendship between the representatives of the United States and representatives of France."

"You have been very generous in what you were pleased to say about myself. I feel that what I have said about what I have tried to do have been said and done only in an attempt to do the thought of the people of the United States truly and to carry that thought out in action."

"The first thought of the people of the United States turned to something more than the mere win of this war. It turned to the achievement of eternal principles of peace and justice. It realized that to win the war was not enough; the must be won in such a way as to raise questions raised by it settled such a way as to insure the peace of the world and lay the foundations for the freedom and happiness of its many peoples and nations."

"Before the war was won so terrible a visage or exhibited more gross-debasing influence of illicit ambitions. I am sure that I shall look the ruin wrought by the armies of central empires with the same horror and deep indignation that I feel in the hearts of the men of France and Belgium and I appreciate the necessity of such a way in the final settlement of the war as not only will result in such acts of terror and spoliation as make men everywhere aware that they cannot be ventured upon without the certainty of just punishment."

victory that has been won. The ties that bind France and the United States are peculiarly close. I do not know in what other comradeship we could and her allies in concerting the measures by which we may secure permanent friendship and co-operation and freedom for the world at large such safety and freedom in its life as can be secured only by the constant association and co-operation of friends."

"I greet you, not only with deep personal respect, but as the representative of the great people of France, and beg to bring you the greetings of another great people to whom the fortunes of France are of profound and lasting interest."

"I raise my glass to the health of the president of the French republic and to Mme. Poincare, and the prosperity of France."

President Poincare's Address

"Mr. President: Paris and France awaited you with impatience. They were eager to acclaim in you the illustrious democrat whose words and deeds were inspired by exalted thought."

"They had also a passionate desire to offer thanks, in your person, to the great republic of which you are the chief for the invaluable assistance which had been given spontaneously during this war to the defenders of right and liberty."

"Some months ago you cabled to me that the United States would send ever increasing forces until the day should be reached on which the allies' arms were able to submerge the enemy under an overwhelming flow of new divisions, and in effect for more than a year a steady stream of youth and energy has been poured out upon the shores of France."

"No sooner had they landed than your gallant battalions, fired by their chief, General Pershing, flung themselves into the combat with such a manly contempt of danger, such a smiling disregard of death, that our longer experience of this terrible war often moved us to counsel prudence.
They brought with them, in arriving here, the enthusiasm of crusaders leaving for the Holy Land."

"It is their right today to look with pride upon the work accomplished and to feel assured that they have powerfully aided by their courage and their faith."

"Eager as they were to meet the enemy, they did not know when they arrived the enormity of his crimes.
That they might know how the German armies make war it has been necessary that they see towns systematically burned down, mines flooded, factories reduced to ashes, orchards devastated, cathedrals shelled and fired."

"You, Mr. President, will be able to measure with your own eyes the extent of the disasters and the French government will make known to you the authentic documents in which the German general staff developed with astounding cynicism its program of pillage and industrial annihilation.
Your noble conscience will pronounce a verdict on these facts."

"Should this guilt remain unpun-ished, could it be renewed, the most splendid victories would be in vain."

"Mr. President, France has struggled, has endured, and has suffered during four long years, she has bled at every vein; she has lost the best of her children; she mourns for her youths. She yearns now, even as you do, for a peace of justice and security.
"It was not that she might be exposed once again to aggression that she submitted to such sacrifices. Nor was it in order that criminals should go unpunished, that they might lift their heads again to make ready for new crimes, that under your strong leadership America armed herself and crossed the ocean."

"Peace must make amends for the misery and sadness of yesterday, and it must be a guarantee against the dangers of tomorrow. The association which has been formed for the purpose of war between the United States and the allies, and which contains the seed of the permanent institutions of which you have spoken so eloquently, will find from this day forward a clear and profitable employment in the concerted search for equitable decisions and in the mutual support which we need if we make our right prevail."

MOB KILLS THE ASSASSIN

Doctor Paes, After Serving as Provisional President, was Formally Elected to That Office by Direct Universal Suffrage.

London, Dec. 17.—Dr. Sidonio Paes, president of Portugal, was shot and killed by an assassin shortly before midnight, while he was in a railway station at Lisbon.

Advices from Lisbon reporting the assassination say that he was struck by three bullets.

The president's assassin, named

Jeetne, was killed by the crowd.

Dr. Sidonio Paes, reported assassinated in Lisbon, had wielded a tremendous political power in Portugal for years.

It was under his leadership that a revolutionary force a year ago this month overthrew the government of Dr. Alfonso Costa and confiscated control.

Doctor Paes was named provisional president and last April was formally elected to that office by direct univer-suffrage.

While his regime moved under fairly normal conditions, the president's life was constantly menaced by agents of political factions opposing him.

He was fired on December 6 by an unidentified man, but the shot missed its mark. Other plots against his life were reported unheeded frequently.

On one occasion the police of Oporto raided a house and seized a score of political conspirators, together with 63 bombs.

Prior to his assumption of the presidency of Portugal, Doctor Paes was

"We joined—have you?"

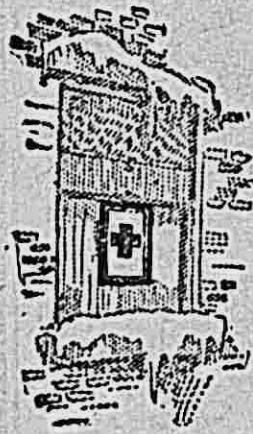

When you have that button pinned on your coat, you can look the whole world in the face—and feel proud.

It means you have answered "present" to the Red Cross Christmas Roll Call for 1919. It means that you have placed your personal stamp of approval on the work of the Greatest Mother in the World and that you have given her the moral support of your membership.

Red Cross work must go on!

As long as Americans are under arms across the sea, as long as the results of war, pestilence and famine afflict the world, the need for the Red Cross will exist.

America has never failed in doing its full duty—that duty now is universal membership in the Red Cross.

ADVICE TO "FLU" CONVALESCENTS

SPAIN AND ENGLAND REPORT INCREASE IN TUBERCULOSIS
AFTER INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC.

U. S. Public Health Service Warns Public Against Tuberculosis.
One Million Cases Tuberculosis in United States—Each a Source of Danger.

Influenza Convalescents Should Have Lungs Examined—Colds Which Hang On Often Beginning of Tuberculosis.
No Cause for Alarm If Tuberculosis Is Recognized Early—Patent Medicines Not to Be Trusted.

Beware tuberculosis after Influenza. No need to worry if you take precautions in time.
Don't diagnose your own condition.

Washington, D. C.—(Special).—According to a report made to the United States Public Health Service, the epidemic of influenza in Spain has already caused an increase in the prevalence and deaths from pulmonary tuberculosis. A similar association between influenza and tuberculosis was
recently made by Sir Arthur Newhouse, the chief medical officer of the English public health service, in his
analysis of the tuberculosis death rate in England.

In order that the people of the United States may profit by the experience of other countries, Surgeon General Rupert Blue of the United States Public Health Service has just issued a warning emphasizing the need of special precautions at the present time.
"Experience seems to indicate," says
the Surgeon General, "that persons
whose resistance has been weakened by an attack of influenza are peculiarly susceptible to tuberculosis. With millions of its people recently affected
with influenza this country now of-
tuberculosis."

United States.

"Then you consider this a serious
menace?" was asked. "In my opinion
it is, though I hasten to add it is dis-
can guard. So far as one can estimate
there are at present about one million
cases of tuberculosis in the United States. There is unfortunately no
complete census available to show exactly how many cases of tuberculosis each state has made the disable. In New York city, there has been in force for over 35,000 cases of tuberculosis registered with the Department of Health. Those familiar with the statistics of the disease believe that the addressed and unreported

50,000. The very careful health survey conducted during the past two years in Framingham, Mass., revealed 200 cases of tuberculosis in a population of approximately 15,000. If these proportions hold true for the United
that about one in every hundred per-
constitutes a source of danger to be guarded against."

What to Do.

In his statement to the public Surgeon General Blue points out how
protect themselves against tuberculosis. "All who have recovered from influenza," says the Surgeon General,
"should have their lungs carefully examined by a competent physician. In fact, it is desirable to have several examinations made a month apart. Such examinations cannot be made throughout the winter nor can they be carried out in two or three minutes. If the
right living, good food and plenty of fresh air."

Danger Signs.

The Surgeon General warned especially against certain danger signs,
hang on."
These, he explained, were often the
losis. Place yourself at once under the care of a competent physician. Tuberculosis is curable in the early stages."
